MUR # 6303

Dear Counsel:

It is my belief that a number of violations of Federal Election Commission regulations have occurred. I would like to file a complaint against Clayton Bowler, whose address is Ozark, Missouri 65721, and Jacob Lawrence, whose address is PO BOX 1946, Nixa, MO 65714. Clayton Bowler has for several months operated an un-registered Federal PAC named "Long is Wrong." As of May 25, 2010 Clayton Bowler announced his retirement from blogging, and his blogs were taken over by Jacob Lawrence (as a caveat to Jacob's involvement, neither party has made it clear who is now administering the PAC). Some time ago, I believe the Long is Wrong PAC exceeded the $1,000 threshold of contributions or expenditures that requires FEC registration, yet it has not registered with the FEC. Were it to register with the FEC I believe that would trigger a series of other violations related to its conduct, and this letter represents my best efforts to document the violations.

Overview

(Note: Attached to this letter is documentation on any prices referenced in this letter and records of blog posts, which were accessed on or before May 27, 2010.)

Total expenditures for the Long is Wrong PAC (<http://longiswrong.blogspot.com/>) are far in excess of the $1,000 threshold that triggers mandatory registration with the Federal Election Commission. It would not be unreasonable to assert that the PAC has expended more than $4,000 through spending on newsletter, web site and campaigning at events. The Long is Wrong PAC has a vested interest in concealing the full extent of its expenditures: by acknowledging that it has passed the threshold, it would trigger a cascade of ethics violations and costly fines.

These violations include the illegal use of a candidate's name in a non-connected PAC, a failure to collect necessary information on donors via its online PayPal contribution system and open coordination with numerous campaigns in the 7th Congressional District (which are extensively documented throughout his blog in conversations with the candidates, reprinting of campaign press releases, and other associations). Additional issues might be raised with the lack of a 'paid for by' on any of the collateral or signage produced to date by the PAC. The PAC has also misled donors by promising and then failing to register with the FEC: this can only be construed as a deliberate maneuver to deny donors transparency in how their money is being spent and the comfort of knowing that it complies with the legal standards laid down by the FEC.

Circumstances suggest that Clayton Bowler may also be using the PAC and its contributors for personal profit: while the PAC collects donations to pay for collateral, it also sells its collateral. Because these aspects of its operation don't represent a drain on its finances, the only possible source for expenditures is on Clayton Bowler himself. Only by registering with the FEC could the legally mandated transparency requirements lay rest to this possibility.

Collateral/Signage

Design Costs: Unknown, but designs have been produced for at least five pieces of collateral listed below.

Banner: $38.21 for one vinyl banner, size 3'x8' from the vendor (BuildASign) advertised on the Long is Wrong blog.

T-Shirt: Quantity unknown. One T-Shirt was offered as a prize on March 18, with an advertised value of $20.95. No winner was announced.

Bumper Stickers: Quantity unknown. Pricing is $2.99 for a quantity of 1, $48.00 for a quantity of 25. Long is Wrong has announced that it has made at least two orders of bumper stickers.

Bumper Magnets: Quantity unknown. Pricing is $11.86 for a quantity of one, $97.50 for a quantity of 25. The Long is Wrong blog advertised their debut on April 22.

Yard Signs: Quantity unknown. Pricing for an 18"x24" sign begins at $40.38 for one sign, $312.40 for 20 signs. On March 6, the Long is Wrong blog announced that it would be unveiling multiple yard sign designs and their pricing, but no details have been forthcoming.

Web Site and Blogging

Domain Registration: $7.99 through Netfirms, domain privacy settings included.

Blogging: Clayton Bowler has completed 159 posts on the Long is Wrong blog. Estimating the value of his time at $20/hr, and assuming that it takes half an hour to research and write a blog post, the cost for his professional services would be $1,590. He has also written in excess of 100 posts connected to Billy Long and the Long is Wrong PAC on sister-blog Bungalow Bill's Conservative Wisdom (<http://bungalowbillncw.blogspot.com/>), many of which are unique (as opposed to identical articles posted on both blogs). The additional blog posts increase the total to a hypothetical $2,590. If Clayton Bowler were compensated according to Missouri's minimum wage, which may be a more reasonable assessment of his professional earning potential, the total would still be a significant $938.88.

Travel Expenses

Costs: Vehicle is a PT Cruiser, 22 MPG combined mileage. Gas prices in Ozark, Missouri (as of today's date) are roughly $2.59 per gallon. Ignoring wear and tear on the vehicle, the cost of gas alone is $.12 per mile. Alternately, the government rate established by the GSA for privately owned vehicle mileage reimbursement as of January 1, 2010 is $.50/mile.

Gas: $.12/mile @ 534.04 miles = $64.08

GSA Compensation: $.50/mile @ 534.04 miles = $267.02

Time Driving: $20/hr @ 10.266 hours = $205.32

Time Campaigning At Events (assuming 1.5 hours per event): $20/hr @ 15 hours = $300

Estimated entrance fees for Lincoln Days Events: $100

Starting Point: _____, Ozark, MO 65721

Route Calculations: MapQuest default settings (shortest time), round trip. The number and nature of events that Clayton Bawler has attended are thoroughly documented on his two blogs.

Event: Joplin Republican Women's Candidate Forum (3/16) - Pizza by Stout, 2101 S Range Line Rd, Joplin, MO

Distance: 163.22 miles

Time: 156 minutes

Event: Lawrence County Lincoln Days (3/6) - Kings Way Christian Church, 900 W Sloan St, Mt. Vernon, MO, 65712

Distance: 87.63 miles

Time: 93 minutes

Event: Greene County Lincoln Days (3/20) - University Plaza Hotel, 333 S John Q Hammons Pkwy, Springfield, MO, 65806

Distance: 31.20 miles

Time: 46 minutes

Event: Taney County Lincoln Days (3/26) - Lions Club, 1015 East Highway 76 Branson, MO, 65616

Distance: 70.79 miles

Time: 78 minutes

Event: Springfield Tea Party/Fair Tax Rally (4/15) - Heffington Optical, 640 West Chestnut St, Springfield, MO, 65806

Distance: 13.65 miles

Time: 47 minutes

Event: Ozark Chamber of Commerce Candidate Forum (4/16) - Ozark Community Center 725 N 10th St, Ozark, MO 65721

Distance: 11.98 miles

Time: 20 minutes

Event: Branson Tea Party (4/17) - Dick Clark's American Bandstand - 1600 West 76 Country Boulevard, Branson, MO 65616

Distance: 69.97 miles

Time: 65 minutes

Event: Pachyderm Club (4/23) - Millie's Cafe 309 South Jefferson Avenue, Springfield, MO 65806

Distance: 30.36 miles

Time: 50 minutes

Event: Springfield Tea Party (4/24) - Cruisin 66, 1310 South Glenstone Avenue, Springfield, 65804

Distance: 24.13 miles

Time: 37 minutes

Event: Christian County Lincoln Days (4/24) - Fremont Hills Country Club 2629 N. Riverside Road, Ozark, MO 65721

Distance: 11.10 miles

Time: 24 minutes

Total Possible Costs

Collateral: Assuming that Long is Wrong has ordered one 3'x8' vinyl banner, 5 t-shirts, 25 bumper stickers, 25 bumper magnets and 20 yard signs, total collateral costs are $597.86. Adding a nominal fee of $50 for design work brings the total to $647.86. It is probable that this number is much higher: marginal cost reductions in ordering higher quantities of collateral makes it more efficient to spend a larger amount rather than repeat small orders over and over again.

11044283957

Bloggng: The costs of registering a domain for a web site and researching and drafting 259 blog posts totals $2,597.99 (a relatively low amount, at only $10 per blog post). This may be an optimistic assessment of Clayton Bowler's earning potential, given his status as a recent college graduate and amateur writer. Even if he were paid minimum wage, he would still earn $246.87.

Travel: Associated costs with attending events and vehicle reimbursement, as established by GSA rates (which are designed to cover the entire cost of vehicle use) totals $872.34.

Overall: A reasonable estimate for total expenditures by the Long is Wrong PAC is $4,067.86, more than four times the threshold for mandatory registration with the FEC. Some elements of this estimate may be overstated, but it is more likely that they have been understated. Given the substantial level of activity within the Long is Wrong PAC it is unreasonable to believe that they have received contributions or made expenditures of an amount less than $1,000.

The PAC's status might be considered when assessing (1) that Clayton Bowler has advertised and solicited funds under the name of a PAC that does not exist, and by failing to fulfill his promise to register with the FEC he has misled his donors (2) the absence of donor information collection for contributions solicited via Paypal on his blog (3) the illegal use of a candidate's name in a nonconnected PAC (4) the PAC's open coordination with political campaigns and campaign staff in its blogging activities (5) the PAC's failure to place mandatory 'paid for by' disclosures on its collateral.

Attached is documentation for my complaint (preserved in the event that the blogs are taken offline).

Signed,

Andrew Bruner

Press Release: The Billy Long is Wrong Political Action Committee

Long is Wrong

Political Action Committee

Early next week, I will register with the Federal Election Commission to form the Billy Long is Wrong Political Action Committee. As I have documented and will continue to document the multiple reasons why I feel Billy Long is wrong for Missouri's Seventh Congressional District. I have also pointed out that Billy Long's campaign jumped out to an early start with fund raising, and there may be some conflicts of interest between Mr. Long's contributors and Mr. Long's promises.

The goal of the Long is Wrong Political Action Committee is raise money to ensure a Constitutional Conservative replaces Roy Blunt as Missouri's Seventh Congressional Congressman. The 7 CD needs to ensure a Congressman with a backbone is sent to Washington who is not afraid to stand up to Obama and Pelosi. Considering my exchanges with Billy Long, the auctioneer is not a candidate capable of standing up to the insults of Congressional Democrats.

You can make donations by clicking the Pay Pal link. This is a grassroots movement with the foundations of the tea party spirit that has spread across our great country.

Billy Long Stonewalls at Greene County Pachyderm Club at Milles: No Q and A After Speech

Brooks Hobbs introduced Billy Long before the Greene County Pachyderm Club which met at Milles Cafe this afternoon. Hobbs said she was unsure where to start the introduction, obviously understanding the big ego, so she just settled on Billy Long has brought FIJIN back to campaigning. Hobbs should have just brought a boom box and played some Kevin Costner music, since that's the kind of fun Long really brings to this race.

Rep. Long delivered his familiar strident speech warning of his 20 years in business. The real danger to Billy's speechmaking was Long's know how, but I will learn. Let this be a lesson to Republicans considering voting for Long in the primary. He has been at this for over a year campaigning around every gas station country fair in Southwest Missouri, and at this time, we all should be concerned with this attitude of I don't know how, but I will learn. The much is at stake in this election not to know how at this time. Why isn't Billy Long offering solutions? Is Billy Long capable of offering solutions beyond signing no-earmark pledges, which will dry up highway funds in Southwest Missouri.

I remember a week ago today, when Billy Long's 'don't know how' led his campaign staff to text messaging the answers to the questions asked at the Clark Chamber of Commerce Congressional Forum with Democrat Tim Davis observing Long's 'don't know how' abilities first hand. Why at this point in the game, with the primary now just over three months away does Billy Long not know how.

Billy Long's speech today was the typical man dropping rhetoric that traced his history from bootstrapping an entrepreneur becoming the richest 'poor man's Bush Limbaugh' on his own terms the constant voice to Mel Hancock hoping to learn what to do. I don't know if Long realizes this, but good Mel Hancock might not be with us much longer, and the lessons he has learned from Hancock haven't really paid off anyway. He's no closer about what the job in Congress the day before he went to Hancock's home, which is why he is leaving answers text messaging to his phone.

Which brings us to the real point in all of this. Apparently, it's terrible all from what I understand for a candidate to field questions in front of the pachyderm club. Billy Long, stonewalled today and didn't take any questions. What does matter Billy? Did you forget to charge your phone last night, or was the battery run down from online paper gleaning? Whatever the reason, Billy Long chose not to answer questions during today's Pachyderm Club lunch, and I want to know why this is acceptable.

We are in a critical time in our country's history, and we have a candidate leading in the money race who obviously doesn't like answering questions and may be just incapable of answering a question beyond stalling of the will earnest questions. Even in that department, Billy Long is wrong.

Branson, Missouri Tea Party Organization Puts On Great Tea Party

I just want to point out the outstanding job the organizers of the Branson tea party did in putting on today's Branson tea party. The excitement and the patriotism was evident as Republicans, Democrats, independents, and some passionate Ron Paul supporters gathered. The town of Branson has roughly 5,000 people, and there was at least 1,000 people gathered.

At 11:00, a line of people gathered along Missouri 76 Worn Dick Clark Theater over the east side heading west. They all had patriotic protest signs. Across the street were a group of Ron Paul supporters with a megaphone citing many issues from taxes to healthcare. They passed out DVDs, pamphlets, and other information.

At noon, the line along Missouri 76 gathered into the central location where speakers from St. Louis who were closely associated with Gateway Pundit's Jim Hoft spoke. The event also featured numerous Branson acts including Stu and Clay Cooper.

This was my sixth tea party event, and it was definitely the best I have been too. Way to go Branson Tea Party organizers. I can't wait to attend your July tea party.

"Bitter Long Is Wrong"

KZRG Inquire Asks Michael Wardell About Billy Long's Federal Filer Unit Commission Filing

He quickly explains Democrats in Southwest Missouri worry about the growing deficit. I find this perplexing to think about considering the huge spending spree in Congress since Democrats took over the legislative branch in 2007.

Davis is probably the strongest candidate in the race in economic theory followed by Jeff Winters. In fact, you could go as far as saying he wrote the book, Nicaragua's Microeconomics. David Ricardo was a 19th century economist that pulled Britain out of a period of inflation, industrial unemployment, and jobs lost abroad. Davis wrote his book based on applying Ricardo's principles to America today, and believes his theory is capable of saving the American economy, which is one of the reasons he chose to run.

Davis says you can't point a finger to one single factor that has forced the economy into trouble. He then explains how one of the problems is the aging population and the stress it places on Social Security. For an Oxford PhD, Davis is patient in explaining economic principles.

He says the problem with Social Security comes from the fact the work force is not large enough to support the system which has more demands placed on it as Baby Boomers retire. To save it, Davis jumps across the anti-business, anti-industry part of his party over to the other side and says taxes need to be cut in order to produce jobs. He believes non-wage taxes need to be lowered to attract capital and entrepreneurial ability. This includes corporate tax rates need to be lowered, as well as other non-wage taxes like capital gains and interest taxes.

Greene County Lincoln Days Republican
Seventh Congressional District Forum,
March 20, 2010

Joe Cases, Chad Livingston, and a news man from KITS gathered together to ask seven of the candidates running for Congress in Missouri's Seventh Congressional District. Bob Schanz was going to announce his decision not to continue running for the seat wasn't allowed a microphone prior to the forum.

The first question was on illegal immigration. What scenario is many of the men running doing without passport status, which prevents federal troops from patrolling US soil for civilian law enforcement. I felt Michael Wadell, Jeff Wisdom, and Mike Moon were the strongest on illegal immigration.

Wadell: Illegal immigration steals jobs from those who need the work. Our border security is lacking, and allows the immigrants to pass the border unchecked. We can't continue this process.

Obviously, with jobs as a concern for most Americans, Wadell raised the practical answer. Nodler, R-Py Long, and Goodman support putting federal troops on the border, which I would consider a violation of posse comitatus.

Wisdom got the military solution right, claiming the National Guard should be used. Right on, right on. The last thing we want in Obama's America is federal troops patrolling our cities.

Moon: Borders - we should employ the state patrol. They could also increase illegals, want them 80-90 dollars per head. Moon also made up for his statement in Lawrence County which was not meant, claiming there wasn't an illegal immigration problem. He will think twice before talking to Barry Pitt the next time about issues.

The loser on this question was Darrell Moore, who wasn't sounding too conservative to me. Moore said, "we need to increase our foreign aid to bring jobs to Latin America." Hey Mr. Moore, spending $787 billion in American didn't create too many jobs in the past year and got us further into debt. Do you really think it would work in Mexico, where it's far more corrupt without any check and balance.

The second question had way about party unity. Even though today's event was mostly a love fest of grateful Republicans thanks to Leigh Anne Gerren's ruling, which presented some forms of free political speech. How do you keep party unity? (Like I said, it was a love fest.)

Mike Moon, who delivered the most jaw of the day said, "we have to avoid taking cheap shots." He would put Billy Long in his place later in the event drawing applause, and then a few at Nodler as well. While Billy may consider it cheap, Moon's timing was perfect.

Moore gave another study answer reminding everyone he's just another attorney hoping to get to Washington. He said, "find solutions to ideas and focus on ideas instead of personalities. I want disaster - trial attorney - and I believe when you have a vicious discussion about the ideas, you solve problems."

Wisdom's answer was the best, considering Gerren didn't seem appreciative of early morning dissent. "I also agree that we have to remain united as a party. If we do not do so, we're going to ensure liberal maintain control of congress. I have been a big supporter of tea parties. I'm upset with both parties - I'm proud to be a republican, but I'm not happy with the party. we have to remember to stay to conservative roots and conservative values. If we do that, we will return power to the states and the people where it belongs."

Wadell enforced Wisdom's effort, which of course is one of the problems in going after someone. "As a party, we have lost our way. We believe in small government - states rights, and I believe in some federal, we have lost our way. Once we get back to our values - the bleeding goes away."

Billy Long, who faces possible FEC election violations related to attempting to bribe a journalist and possible corporate campaign violations, had one of the weakest answers because it doesn't take into account Long is a wounded candidate with a huge cash lead that may still pull this off for the nomination. Long said, "The democrats are

Taney County Lincoln Days 2010: Snoozefest for GOP

With five months to the primaries and Lincoln Day event to go, I feel like we have regressed in Missouri's Seventh District. With so much on the line in November, I didn't feel the pressure last night from the candidates. Billy Long seemed most improved. Yes, I said it. He seemed comfortable for a change; although his speech lacked depth.

Honestly, if I was to choose last night who I would vote for, it would probably be Rabbi Of Israel. His prayer had the fire that I want to hear at this point from the candidates, and it addressed many of the issues I feel Republicans in the Seventh District are concerned about. I mean in the greatest disservice week in American history, I know the candidates came from good families as they obviously wouldn't be standing in front of us. I want to feel passion. I want to feel freedom ring.

So with that said, the highlight of the night for me was watching Billy Long's assistant get up from his seat after dinner, get back to the concession counter, wait on a cup of water, and deliver it to Mr. Long. I guess it's true the first years after you graduate from law school are service years.

Jeff Wisdom spoke first. Jeff has a Constitutional sign to remind voters to the people and the states. The president of Taney County didn't get that last night.

Gary Nadler spoke after Wisdom. Nadler directed the conversation at the failed government-subsidized housing market, and how giving something to the people for rent to nothing ruined a large number of the economy. He pointed out now we are going to do the same thing with healthcare. Interesting timeline to say the least, but what are we going to do to stop it? You simply aren't going to be able to go to Washington and vote to repeal this unless the Republicans get a veto proof majority or some Democrats realize they just voted in the American police state through the healthcare bill and have a change of heart.

Next was Bob Schanz. Schanz gave his best speech of the campaign. What's that you say? You thought this guy was such a jerk, then when he told us he is a Senator, but he was frustrated he didn't get to speak at Greene County Lincoln days, so he is in there on a ceremonial basis, and will make an official decision before May. Schanz isn't voting in the United States what he feared overseas during World War II.

Mike Mann struggled to give his wonderful stump speech with the cow joke. I noticed after being attacked by Flood Up Mustang earlier this week, some elements of the speech were removed.

Dorell Moore was missing in action, again.

Jack Goodman praised conservative America for slowing down the radical Obama agenda. I am not sure how much longer this speech will work. The gloves are off in DC, and we are about to enter the Daytona Super Speedway of radical left-wing politics delivered by Pelosi and the Democrats to the desk of Barack Obama. They have eight months to pass the remaining Obama agenda, and I don't believe conservative America will stop them at this point, especially with Lindsey Graham in the Senate.

Billy Long came walking to stage with his feet high above his head, but that didn't stop him from delivering his best speech I have seen. Of course it was full of Long rhetorical tools. At one point, he nearly went into ear-splitting mode dropping the names of businessmen from around the area. He's not the most graceful speaker either, even after 30 years of public speaking, I am still trying to figure out if living in his mansion in Milwood Estates has gone to his head since it appears anyone who goes to a public fair in the Seventh District is a guest roped.

Long was comfortable tonight. He spoke to know most of the people in the room. I think Billy wants to shape stuff into Mid Missouri, since the Missouri government wants to shut down that area. I asked the question would that make him, Billy Long? I don't go there. After all this was said and done, Billy didn't have the map going to Washington to repeal healthcare like he told a friend earlier this week. Now, with WFT bar on the public tongue, he plans to go to Washington to fight the public sales tax. Billy, refer to Goodman's comments.

There is more off the table. Congressional District. With a selection of...

An Open Letter to Mike Church on Sirius Patriot, Thanks For Teaching Me What It Means to be a Little 'r' republican: I Chose the Red Founder's Pill

Dear Mike,

You have empowered me so much over the last 15 months to fight for this country with Little 'r' republicanism from the vision of our founders. When I used what I have learned on your show with republicans running in Missouri's Seventh Congressional District, I successfully single out those who are not capable of serving with the best interest of the founding fathers—in other words, they swallowed the blue pill years ago.

I have taken my campaign against Big R Republicans violating Reagan's Seventh Commandment knowing it's for the good of our country at this time. Last month, I began the Big Long is Wrong Web. In less than a month, I exposed this man wasn't capable of the founding message, and his head began to spin. His well-funded Congressional campaign began to lose ground, and he began to take the attacks on a personal level. They began to show in his speeches as this man with a huge ego, couldn't take the pressure from the message taught by our founding fathers.

Two weeks ago, I attended a meeting of the Eglerston Republican Women's Club in Joplin Missouri. I ran late for that meeting, and missed Billy Long's speech. I was told it was directed towards me, not just by little 'r' republicans running for Roy Blunt's seat, but by Billy Long himself. When the event was over, he rudely rushed to me ignoring the hosts of the club and asked me to talk over coffee.

Our first meeting was in August before the Chafe McDowell town hall meeting. He came crashing as the anti-fallout citizen (writing for Congress). I quickly caught the conversation between Long and a small-business owner frustrated the "W" money didn't go to free up credit markets. The man wanted to know what Billy Long was going to do for him. Mr. Long, the anti-fallout Republican began telling this man what he would do to help this man get some of that money Mr. Long opposes.

I interrupted the conversation and asked him where in our Constitution does Congress have this authority. Mr. Long said they don't. I followed up with, then where are you telling this man you will help him personally? Billy Long didn't answer my question. He walked away.

Like I mentioned earlier, after the meeting of republican women, he rushed towards me asking me for coffee. I agreed and sat in a booth listening to this big ego man cry like a baby for a second chance to get the Constitution right with me. I further asked him about his knowledge of the Constitution and the 16 amendments passed, and in a moment of honesty, Mr. Long told me he wasn't the smartest man, and that's why he pays Cuzco, a young treasury consultant fresh out of law school, $2,000 a month to guide him on the campaign trail. I couldn't believe what I was hearing. This kind of honesty is rare with politicians.

With my wife sitting at the table listening to the conversation, his tongue then told me I was a snake man, and that would not be a guy like me in his campaign. He told me that if I made the Long is Wrong Web site go away, there would be a job in his campaign for me.

Mr. Church that is the last thing I want to do is work for this man who disregards our Constitution and feels he can buy my silence and disregard my 16th Amendment right. Because of you, I was able to back this man in a corner and confirm he is the man I met in August standing in line for a town hall meeting. I didn't get this knowledge from my college degree. I got it from my 4200 Watts-Sirius Radio contract and a radio that stays put on Sirius Patriot. My degree cost me $38,000, far more than what it cost for this privilege to listen to you.

Thank you so much,

A Third Tea Party Scheduled for Springfield, MO in 2010: Cruisin 66 Springfield Tea Party Invites Two Non Tea Party Candidates

A third Tea Party business meeting for Springfield, Missouri parties. It appears the Tea Party is sponsored by the Super Dave Show. It also appears it will be a candidate meet and greet, which signals red flags for many tea party patriots. It is scheduled for April 24, 2010, at 1310 S. Glenstone from 1-3pm.

There are three Republican candidates from Missouri's Seventh Congressional District scheduled to appear at the Super Dave Tea Party. They are Mike Moon, Billy Long, and Darrell Moore. Two out of the three do not subscribe to the basic tea party ideas. Mike Moon is the only true tea party candidate scheduled at the event.

I have posted Billy Long many times on our Channel 40, and he has tried to impede me with his lawyers, even going as far as jailing with me that's why he pays his assistant $2000 a month to help him in these matters. Billy Long is a true politician, the kind of politician the tea parties rally against. His appearance at this is just funny. Billy Long a tea party? The man couldn't pass a high school level Constitution test. If you don't believe me, make sure you visit <http://www.congrawrap.com> which contains a test question comes up over Billy Long's candidacy.

Then there's Darrell Moore. He's not worthy of the tea party another either. At the Green County Lincoln Day event, Moore told the crowd he supports sending your tax dollars to Latin America to create jobs in places like Mexico in hopes of slowing down illegal immigration. The United States tried this. It was called NAFTA, and it didn't work. Tell me what kind of tea party hopes to send more of your money overseas, which is all adding up to one: taxes.

I believe Super Dave or whoever set this tea party up needs to reconsider the message he is sending to the tea party movement with the invitation of Long and Moore. I want to know why Jeff Winkler or Michael Wendell aren't on the list. Were they not invited? They are tea party candidates. The judgment of this tea party should be questioned.

Org, my campaign will be represented at the tea party. I had previously committed to speak to a large group of veterans that same day. If time allows, I will also be present at the tea party. I was invited by Super Dave.

2010 Christian County, Missouri Lincoln Day Review: The Final Lincoln Day Event for MO 7 Republicans

Tonight, we have Christian County, Missouri Lincoln Day held at the Pleasant Hills Country Club. Since early February, the candidates running for the Republican nomination have attempted to speak at as many county events as they possibly can hoping to gain support among the party's most loyal. Tonight concludes the Lincoln Day events for those hoping to replace Roy Blunt.

The Michael Wardell campaign had the most exciting name to share with the crowd. His trade mission to Japan continues to grow into something more impressive as he works with leaders in Missouri's economic development country to build relationships to increase exports from the Seventh District to Asia and other parts of the world. Wardell announced he was asked to speak in front of the Japanese Congress, so doors are opening, so let's hope it leads to good jobs for Southwest Missouri. You have to hand it to Wardell for showing leadership.

Gary Nodler reminded everyone to fill in their Constitutions, and then showed another aspect of his meaningful leader has attempted a different subject at each of the Lincoln Day events. While a couple of the speeches have gone nowhere with me, Nodler resonated tonight stressing the importance of national security. He was on a higher note than when he pitched his bumper stickers in Joplin. To be fair with Senator Nodler, he did explain to me the differences in his speeches, and you have to give it to him, he didn't settle with the same speech at each event like a certain candidate who has made a living talking fast.

Darrell Moore had the closest speech of the night, when instead of being long. While Moore gave some honest answers not running he then closed there were a conglomerate of reasons why he's running. He closed each American will take on $13,000 more in their share of the national debt this year. Funny he wasn't as concerned about this at Greene County Lincoln Day when he told the crowd he wanted to send aid to Latin America to create jobs to slow down illegal immigration.

The irony of Moore's speech came when he gave an inaccurate painting of Lincoln as an honorable man. It seems like Mr. Moore forgot that Lincoln abolished Americans of color process during the Civil War (see the Mayor of Baltimore). Thanks to me why have we celebrated Lincoln tonight, he too wanted to keep a man in jail over the opinion of a dog after the crime lab threw out his case. Lincoln wasn't an honorable man Mr. Moore. Go back and read real history books.

World Polym: Your professional and auctioneer Billy Long gave the same speech he gave throughout Lincoln Day's with one exception. He closed an emblem for a rain forest in Java. Since I have ridden my bicycle across Java seven times during RAGBRAI, I think he must be confused with corn fields.

Long said in his speech we need people to go to Washington who don't care about political advancement. Mr. Long, if you don't care about political advancement, why are you still asking people vote for you so you can advance politically?

Jack Goodman noted an impressive list of accomplishments in leadership in the State Senate. He's also showing more passion when he speaks these days. I want to know what his vision is. On a good note, Goodman is one of the fairly value candidates in Missouri. I appreciate his tough stance on protecting Missouri children, which he pointed out tonight with life sentences for those who commit sexual assault on children. I honestly wish he would take it one step further. Any person who robs a child of their innocence in that way deserves the death penalty in my book.

Jeff Wisdom has been working hard on the campaign trail, and like I have said before, a five minute speech doesn't do Jeff's plans justice. He touched on it a little tonight, but didn't quite get there. I do know people want to know how his plan does away with federal income taxes, and it's worth discussing further with Mr. Wisdom if you get the chance.

Mike Moon's exclamation is contagious. I wish his love for the Constitution was just as contagious. Moon touched on HR 875 tonight, a bill that should concern all Americans since it's a radical power grab of the nation's food supply. I appreciate Moon's knowledge of what's going

Springfield, MO Tax Day Fair Tax Rally Organizers Sends Mixed Messages About Politicians

I arrived early to the Springfield Fair Tax Rally yesterday on the grounds of Hoffington Optical just west of the Post Office. I taped my Billy Long is Wrong sign on my car, which gained the attention of the staff. They kindly asked me to remove the sign or move my car to the side of the road where other motorists had parked their signs. They were very nice about it and explained this event was about the Fair Tax and not the politicians.

I explained to them Billy Long donated to the Mayor Jim O'Neal's campaign, and now O'Neal led the city towards opening a demonstration in the Missouri state legislature that Springfield opposes the fair tax. It seems to me this should be a major strike against Billy Long in the fair tax circles, especially since Long's own Web site doesn't state support for either the fair tax or the flat tax. I support the fair tax, but not in the manner the organizers do that leaves the 16th Amendment in place for double taxation. We discussed the fair tax and the 16th Amendment for a few minutes, and I drove my car to another location, and posted the sign.

Without my explanation, Billy Long was brought up to the stage followed by other politicians to give a few words. While minutes. I thought it was about the fair tax and not the politicians. Not all Seventh Congressional District candidates were allowed the same courtesy.

While they were limited to a few words, the fair tax people sent mixed messages. While I justified the reasons for my sign at the rally, they made it about the politicians later in the day. It was sweet to hear people complain about the politicians getting up to speak. Super Dave, a radio personality in Springfield, invited me to their tea party on the 24th and assured me their rally will be for the people by the people and of the people and not the politicians getting on stage.

Billy Long explains his gambling in an e-mail to a (former?) supporter. Sound like a whale of a tale to me.

yesterday

Another day, another pledge signed by Billy Long. Pledges are fine, but they don't show leadership-just pathos.

Billy Long is Wrong Bumper Stickers Will Be Available April 28, 2010

I received a confirmation, the Billy Long is Wrong bumper stickers will be available tomorrow. What a great way to spread the word that Billy Long is wrong for Missouri. Billy Long is wrong for the Republican party, especially at a time when the character of all Republicans in Congress will be under a microscope as Democrats turn up the heat as they force losing their power on the Hill.

There is a limited supply in the first print, so be sure to order your Billy Long is Wrong bumper sticker. Contact me at billylongiswrong@gmail.com to get one of these bumper stickers. And you know, Billy Long himself says there is power in a bumper sticker.

So help spread the word. Billy Long is Wrong.

The response to the Billy Long is Wrong bumper stickers has been overwhelming, and chances are you may have already seen one driving around Springfield, MO. The stickers will start making their way west into Joplin and into the southern part of Missouri's Seventh Congressional District later this week. There are still some available. The Billy Long campaign is attacking you again on their Defeat Nodler Web site. It's really pathetic. The whole site is dedicated to defeat Gary Nodler and all of a sudden when they realize how effective your site has been in their campaign demise, they suddenly turn to attacking you and Jack Goodman. The anonymous blogger at Defeat Nodler is obviously connected to the Billy Long campaign.

It's Time to Play Billy Long Greene County Lincoln Days Bingo: Match the Talking Points and Win Long is Wrong Prizes

Billy Long is Wrong
www.longiswrong.com

For Missouri's 7th District

Thursday, March 18, 2010

The preparation for Billy Long's run for Congress included many endless hours of memorizing talking points while avoiding coming up with any solutions. When Billy is on his talking points, like during his radio interviews, he comes across as bold. When you get Billy off his talking points, he begins looking upwards, confused, empty, just like in the David Catanese interview when he was asked what he would do differently than the stimulus.

The Long is Wrong Political Action Committee proudly announces the first round of Billy Long Talking Points Bingo. Simply choose from the list Billy Long's best talking points and then fill your card with the talking points in random locations. When Billy says the talking point during any of his communications at the Greene County Lincoln Days, just mark your card just like you would in bingo. Get five in a row, and don't forget to yell Bingo while he speaks.

New since this is the first contest on Long is Wrong, there will be fun prizes like the brand new Billy Long is Wrong t-shirt. You will be the life of the Republican party when you wear these to party functions, especially the functions Billy personally attends. Hey may even offer you a job to take it off.
